

The Gift of Giving

In the 1st Reading, the Prophet Elijah goes to the town of Sidon and sees a widow gathering sticks near the gate of the town. He asks for some water to drink and for a piece of bread. The widow explains that she was gathering a couple of sticks, so that she may go home and prepare the last food for her son and herself, and then both will die. But Elijah said to her, 'Do not be afraid; ... but first make me a little cake of it and bring it to me, and afterwards make something for yourself and your son. For thus says the Lord the God of Israel: The jar of meal will not be emptied and the jug of oil will not fail until the day that the Lord sends rain on the earth.' She went and did as Elijah said. The jar of meal was not emptied, neither did the jug of oil fail.

It is amazing that Elijah asked a woman who had almost nothing for some food. But the more amazing thing is that the woman agreed and brought the food for Elijah. Given the dire circumstances, it would be quite natural for the widow to politely say, "I am sorry, but I have nothing to give". Instead, the widow shared her last meal with Elijah. Maybe she recognized Elijah as a Prophet, or she may have just felt sorry that Elijah, a stranger in the town, was evidently hungry and thirsty. For her generosity, she experienced a miracle.

In the Gospel reading, we see Jesus sitting opposite the temple's treasury, and watching the crowd putting money into the treasury. Jesus saw the rich people put in large sums.

But when he saw a poor widow come and put in two small copper coins, he called his disciples and said, "Truly I tell you, this poor widow has put in more than all those who are contributing to the treasury. For all of them have contributed out of their abundance; but she out of her poverty has put in everything she had, all she had to live on." Again, this widow did not just give what was 'extra', or what she could afford to give. She gave all she had to the temple.

As the Christmas season comes, and I hear how the people in the region are devastated by natural disasters and political turmoil in their countries, what can I give? For the people around me who need a listening ear and a kind word, what can I give?

The truth is that God sees the giving - he knows how much we are giving and he knows the true reason for the giving. I only pray that my God who sees all, knows my heart and is pleased.

And the Lord cannot be outdone in generosity! If I give, he will give and more:

*"The generous man will be prosperous,
and he who waters will himself be watered."*

Proverbs 11: 25

*"Give, and it will be given to you.
They will pour into your lap a good measure, pressed down, shaken together, and running over. For by your standard of measure it will be measured to you in return."*

Luke 6:38

We invite you to join us in prayer as we gather for the Vice-Provincial Chapter

Lord Jesus,
we believe that the Congregation is being offered today a great grace of conversation to the Redeemer.

As we prepare for the coming Chapter of our Vice-Province, we pray that, inspired by your Holy Spirit, we will experience ever more deeply in our hearts the plentiful redemption you have won for us through your Death and Resurrection.

May our oneness with you bear fruit as we dialogue about the reality of our cultures and social conditions, especially in the interest of the poor and most abandoned.

May your Holy Spirit enlighten us in the decisions that are to follow amidst discernment over the signs of these times.

Jesus, Most Holy Redeemer, may we experience your Plentiful Redemption in our vice-province through a renewal of our ministries and communities.

Mother of Perpetual Help,

Pray for us.

Our Holy Father, St. Alphonsus and all the Redemptorist Saints,

Pray for us.
